GREEN CHEMISTRY POSTGRADUATE SUMMER SCHOOL 6TH-10TH JULY 2020, ONLINE

<https://www.unive.it/ssgc>

The Green Chemistry Postgraduate Summer School, as a result of the crisis caused by the Coronavirus (COVID-19) ongoing outbreak and the limitations on travelers' mobility, was held online from 6th to 10th July 2020.

The Summer School was the first international initiative organized and managed by the new-born Green Sciences for Sustainable Development Foundation (www.gssd-foundation.org), a no-profit Foundation based in Venice, Italy.

This 12th edition of the Green Chemistry Summer Schools follows the 11 previous editions, of which the last one was held at Palazzo Ducale in Venezia, in July 2018.

The event was chaired by Prof. Pietro Tundo, President of Green Sciences for Sustainable Development Foundation and Chair of IUPAC - Interdivisional Committee of Green Chemistry for Sustainable Development, ICGCSD.

The Organizing Committee included Prof. Fabio Aricó from Ca' Foscari University of Venice, Italy, Dr. Aurelia Visa from Romanian Academy "Coriolan Drăgulescu" Institute of Chemistry in Timisoara, Romania and the Secretary of the Conference, Ms. Elena Alfine from Green Sciences for Sustainable Development Foundation, Italy and by Ms. Emilia Pasta from Green Sciences for Sustainable Development Foundation.

The Organizing Committee was supported by the ZOOM Manager, Ms. Paula de Waal from MENTAT, Italy and the Web managers, Enrico Siviero, Daniele Barzazzi, Andrea Cester and Fabrizio Romano from Ca' Foscari University of Venice, Italy.

We would like to thank the team of the Web Office of ASIT - Ca' Foscari that created the Summer School website (www.unive.it/ssgc).

The School was held in collaboration with IUPAC - Interdivisional Committee of Green Chemistry for Sustainable Development, ICGCSD, to which all the 15 members of the International Scientific Committee belonged, and Ca' Foscari University of Venice.

The event was endorsed by the Italian National Commission for UNESCO Roma, the Ministero dell'Ambiente e della Tutela del Territorio e del Mare, the GREENOMICS UNESCO/UNITWIN Network, the Municipality of Venice and ENEA.

The Summer School was sponsored by the Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons - OPCW, PhosAgro Russia, Kaimei Technology Co. Ltd. China, the European Chemical Society - EuChemS, the American Chemical Society/Green Chemistry Institute, the International Young Chemists Network, ICAS International, the Royal Society of Chemistry and GreeNovator.

Thanks to the participation of these Sponsors, about half of the postgraduate students attending the School, coming from developing countries, have been awarded with a scholarship.

In total, 210 applications arrived and 180 were considered eligible to attend the school after a strict selection made by the 15 members of the International Scientific Committee, and based on their CVs, their list of publications, the recommendation letters from their tutor and their motivations to attend the Summer School.

The 180 selected post-graduated attendees coming from 42 different countries (the list can be found on the GSSD Foundation's website) and 30 teachers from all over the world participated in the Summer School online. We also had the pleasure and honor of hosting the Nobel Prize Jean-Marie LEHN, who gave his lecture before the Closing Ceremony.

The rigorous selection of the participants contributed to form a class of high cultural level students, who certainly find themselves at a point of their life where they are ready to invest their talents and scientific know-how for their future professional careers in a mature and responsible way. The top-level and diverse range of topics offered at the Summer School provided them the chance to look around, exchange their scientific knowledge and establish important links with other participants and professors for fruitful joint projects and research activities. This was a real success for this Summer School, since this opportunity will speed up the participants' careers as it occurred in the past. In fact, five Alumni who now occupy important positions in their respective countries came back to the School as teachers:

- Prof. Peter Licence, School of Chemistry, University of Nottingham, United Kingdom,
- Prof. Katalin Barta, Full Professor in Renewable resources and Organic chemistry at the University of Graz, Austria,
- Dr. Sergey Zinoviev, Senior International Cooperation Officer at OPCW, The Netherlands,

JULY 6-10, 2020 – ONLINE

- Prof. Fabio Aricò, Associated professor of organic Chemistry, Ca' Foscari University of Venice, Italy
- Dr. Aurelia Visa, Romanian Academy "Coriolan Drăgulescu" Institute of Chemistry, Timisoara, Romania

were in different times students of the previous eleven editions of the Summer School in Venice.

After the Summer School, all participants have received a certificate of attendance.

All the lectures were recorded and are available for registered participants on the Green Sciences for Sustainable Development Foundation's website (www.gssd-foundation.org).

The recordings could also be shared with those who request them.

The Summer School hosted 13 lecture sessions and 7 poster sessions on the following main topics:

1. Exploitation of renewable resources
2. New reaction pathways
3. Energy saving
4. Food safety
5. Green Chemistry for cultural heritage
6. Climate Change damages mitigation
7. Education

This Summer School by Remote was of course more challenging than an event in person: while the students had the opportunity to be connected from everywhere, at the same time it was necessary to keep their attention high; this was possible only by the engagement reached with the outstanding scientific quality of the teachers. The real participation of the students in the Summer School activities was gained involving them in the discussion of the lectures and, not less important, through the poster sessions.

The aim of the Summer School is to spread the scientific know-how on Green Chemistry, making it accessible for every student all around the world; in this uncertain times, doing it by remote was the way to reach this goal.

The outcomes and the success of this online Summer School will be important for the next Summer School which will be held in person in Venice; the Green Sciences for Sustainable Development Foundation will surely support and follow the activities of this challenging but rewarding initiative.
